RoHS Declaration

The EC Directive 2002/95/EC („Directive on the Restriction of the use of certain Hazardous Substances in electrical and electronic equipment“) which becomes effective on July 1, 2006 prohibits to place products on the market that contain lead, cadmium, chrome (VI), mercury, or fire protection substances with PBB/PBDE.

NetModule AG is a company that cares about the environment and is therefore strictly sourcing only RoHS compliant components and devices for some time now. NetModule products manufactured after July 1, 2006 will be fully RoHS compliant.

NetModule AG does not claim any exceptions according to Article 4, Paragraph 2 for its products.
